We beg to call your attention to our Patent Handled Shoe Brush. See illustrations herewith. It is decidedly the best Shoe Brush in the market, and cannot become loose. It is a common complaint that the handles of Shoe Brushes that are attached to the stock by means of screws or nails become loose, and consequently worthless, long before the brush is worn out. By this invention, we claim that this difficulty is entirely obviated.

Artificial dentures made on all the known bases, and satisfaction guaranteed.

I take pleasure in inviting the attention of all interested in the subject of Artificial teeth to the recent great improvement in the manner of adapting and retaining Artificial Dentures in the mouth, which cannot fail to supercede all devices hitherto employed.

All who have had experience in wearing artificial teeth are aware of the trouble and annoyance arising from irritation of the gums, caused by the unyielding nature of the plate, to become loosened and displaced while eating or talking, and of food getting between the gums and plate.

The important invention which I now submit to the judgment of the public, effectually removes all these distressing difficulties.

The device consists of a Lining of Soft, Flexible Rubber, forming a yielding, velvety, surface in contact with the mouth, protecting the gums from all irritation, and by its yielding nature, preventing the introduction of food or air from unequal pressure during mastication, while it holds the plate in the mouth with a firmness and tenacity with which no other device now known can bear any comparison. To those having trouble from either or all of the above named causes and those who contemplate wearing Artificial Teeth, this improvement can not be too strongly commended.

Particular attention paid to operations on the natural teeth.

When desired, Gas will be administered in extracting teeth.

TO THE
BUSINESS MEN OF THE TOWN OF NEW LOTS,
This Little Volume
Is Respectfully Dedicated,
By their Friend and Well-wisher,
C. WARREN HAMILTON.

PREFACE.

Some may think it entirely unnecessary to make any remarks by way of introduction to a work of this nature. However, as this is the first edition of our little volume we deem it not inappropriate to say a few words as to the "wherefore" which calls it into existence.

We believed that a Business Directory of the town, combining with it valuable facts and useful data regarding the local institutions, public boards, &c., would supply a want widely felt, and that such a work would be duly appreciated by the citizens of the town.

Although the work has received from us great care and attention, we do not claim that it is entirely free from errors. Omissions, no doubt, have occurred, but they have been such as, notwithstanding the utmost exercise of diligence, have escaped our assiduous efforts to discover the name and place of business of every merchant and dealer doing business in the town. Should our compilation receive sufficient public favor to warrant a second edition, we trust that our experience will add to its correctness.

We have given the names only of those whose place of business is in the town, otherwise our little volume would have assumed a size larger than was deemed best for its present purpose. To those who have favored us with their patronage, we return our thanks, trusting that our work will prove to be what we claimed for it—a useful compilation and a valuable advertising medium. As such it is respectfully submitted to the public.

TOWN OF NEW LOTS.

The Town of New Lots, formerly embraced within the limits of the Town of Flatbush, from which it was separated in 1851, is bounded on the North by the City of Brooklyn and Town of Newtown, on the South by the Towns of Jamaica, Flatlands and Flatbush, on the East by the Towns of Newtown, and Jamaica, Queens County, and on the West by the Towns of Flatbush, Flatlands and the City of Brooklyn. The dimensions of the Town from East to West are two miles, and from North to South (Newtown to Jamaica Bay) one and a half miles. The Town is one of the oldest on the Island and had an interesting origin. Its seniors in age, Flatbush and Flatlands, were early peopled by the old Dutch settlers, the honest, hardy sons of toil who have made Long Island what it is oftentimes rightly named, "The Market Garden of the United States." As years rolled over our ancestors of those neighboring townships, and as their available lands became tilled and their families increased, they turned their eyes toward the wilderness that then lay between them and the cypress-crowned hills of the North-east. They here beheld arable lands in abundance and from thence came their sons to till the plains whereon now stand thickly populated villages. The names of some of those old settlers are still perpetuated by descendants who now stand in the front rank of honorable citizens; increasing the prosperity and controlling the interests of the Town of New Lots. Among those who bear the names of the early settlers and who, in some instances, occupy the old family mansions, are the VanSiclens, VanSinderens, Wyckoffs, Rapaljes, Lotts, Vanderveers and others, to mention all of whose names would occupy too much space.

The old village, or New Lots proper, is situated on the line of a main road along which are some stately mansions, of recent erection, adorned with modern embellishments. There is a cluster of houses at one point, a two-story frame building, district school, stores, a blacksmith-shop and the old Reformed church and cemetery, hereinafter described. The old village is noted as a pre-eminently healthy place, nearly all its inhabitants being connected with families remarkable for their longevity. Besides this, the town includes three villages, viz., East New York, Cypress Hills, and

BROWNSVILLE.

This latter village is situated in the westerly section of the town, and, in extent, is about two thirds of a mile in length and one quarter of a mile in breadth. The village is named after its founder, Mr. Charles S. Brown, who purchased the original land titles about twelve years ago, laid the property out into city lots and sold them to the present inhabitants. Its streets are well laid out, at a uniform width of about thirty feet. There are about one hundred and fifty frame buildings in the village, most of them comfortable cottages occupied by a worthy and industrious class of mechanics. Its public institutions are, herein, elsewhere described. The close contiguity of Brownsville to the city of Brooklyn, will cause it to share largely in the rapidly increasing prosperity of the important city wards adjoining it.

CYPRESS HILLS

is situated in the north-easterly section of the town and is located almost cardinally opposite to the village of Brownsville, from which it is distant about one and a half miles. Fulton avenue is now being extended throughout its entire length to the boundary of the county, and it is confidently expected that a line of horse-cars will shortly be put in operation upon its surface, which will greatly facilitate travel between the village and the city of Brooklyn. The nucleus of Cypress Hills was formed around the famous hotel of John I. Snediker, about thirty years ago. The Jewish and Cypress Hills Cemeteries being then founded, extensive marble works, etc., followed, greatly adding to the population of the place. The establishment of the Brooklyn Water Works—buildings, pump-well and machinery—at Cypress Hills, also enhanced its material prosperity. The population of the village is now estimated as in the neighborhood of 3,000.

EAST NEW YORK

is by far the largest of the villages of the town, both in population and in geographical area. From the city line to Cypress Hills, it is about one and one-quarter miles in length and almost one mile in breadth from north to south. It is bounded on the north by Newtown and the Cemetery of the Evergreens, on the west by Brownsville and the city line, and on the south by Bay and Union avenues, which separate it from the old village of New Lots, before described. The only large manufactories which East New York now boasts are the Chemical Works and the Maguire Company's Brush Factory; but there is a vast business carried on in the manufacture of clothing at the houses of some of the poorer inhabitants. These industrious tailors are for the most part Germans and are a noteworthy, honest, frugal and thrifty class of operatives. The public buildings and institutions of East New York are suitably described under their respective heads, in other portions of this work. The population of the village is now estimated at about 8,000.

The enviable location enjoyed by the Town of New Lots, is certain to bring to dwell within it, a largely increased population, within a brief period from the present—so soon, in fact, as one of the various projects now on foot to bring it into rapid communication with the ferries, shall be accomplished. Possessed of extraordinary natural advantages, it will inevitably become the home of manufacturing industries, the establishment of which is all now required to give it rank among the foremost towns in the State.

CHURCHES.

REFORMED CHURCH.

NEW LOTS.

This church is situate on the New Lots road, and is the oldest church edifice in the town. Services are held every Sabbath morning at 10½ o'clock, by the Rev. C. W. Wood pastor. Sunday School is held in the school-house opposite the church, every Sabbath afternoon at 2 o'clock. William Hegeman Superintendent. The School numbers about 100 scholars.

REFORMED CHURCH.

EAST NEW YORK.

On the 15th day of July, 1839, a meeting was called to consider the feasibility of establishing a Reformed Church in East New York. On the 20th of December, 1839, an organization was effected by the election of Elders and Deacons, Mr. Williamson Rapalje, Sen., one of the present Elders being one of the first Elders elected.

A church edifice was at once begun, and completed in May, 1840. After a number of years the building was found to be inadequate to meet the wants of the congregation and the present structure was completed in 1855. In May, 1840, Rev. William H. Campbell, now President of Rutgers College, New Jersey, was called to the pastorate, and continued pastor for about a year. He was succeeded by the Rev. Martin V. Schoonmaker, whose pastorate, continued for seven years. After an intirem of about a year, the Rev. J. Pascal Strong, was called to the pastorate, and continued pastor for about five years. In June, 1856, Rev. Anson F. Munn, was called to succeed Mr. Strong, and closed his pastorate in 1867, after a ministry of over eleven years. On the 6th of May, 1868 the Rev. C. R. Blauvelt, the present pastor, began his ministry in this church. The church is situated on New Jersey avenue near Fulton avenue. Services are held every Sabbath morning at 10½ o'clock. The Sunday School connected with the church is in a very flourishing condition, numbering about 400 scholars. Ditmas Jewell, Esq., Superintendent and Charles E. North, Secretary.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.BROWNSVILLE.

A little band, representing different evangelical denominations, as early as June, 1866, began to meet at private houses for social worship; in the hope of imparting and receiving mutual benefit and, if practicable, at the same time also of diffusing an influence more widely productive of good in the community. At length, the use of a room centrally located having been secured, a Sunday School was organized on July 28th, 1868, numbering, besides the Superintendent, seven male and four female Teachers, with twenty-four male and twenty-six female Scholars. The weekly prayer meeting was likewise continued, with Services on the Sabbath for preaching when preaching could be obtained, or, in the absence of this, for exhortation, prayer and conference, by the few brethren who were willing to aid. After one of these meetings held June, 1867, at the residence of Mr. G. S. Thatford, the query was incidentally raised—whether the effort ought not to be made to establish a Church. The responses indicating a willingness to contribute and labor for such an object, it was at once resolved to institute the needful preliminary measures; which measures were happily crowned with success. To Mr. Havilah Mowrey, City Missionary, it is only a proper acknowledgment to state that in this, as in every prior stage of the history of the Church from the beginning the citizens were largely indebted for the result, to his wise counsels and unremitting co-operation. Although beyond the limits of his district, he seldom failed to be present at the meetings when permitted by other engagements, and about $2,000 raised by his personal solicitation were paid by him towards defraying the cost of the building, and its furniture. Much credit is likewise due to J. G. Cooley, Esq., for donating the valuable Melodeon now in use, besides one hundred dollars in money. By funds thus procured, with other sums obtained from friends residing or having interests in the neighborhood, and $500 appropriated by the Congregational Union, the entire Church property was, before the commencement of this current year, made free from debt. The ground on which the Church stands was donated by Mr. G. S. Thatford, and consists of two lots, being 50 feet front by 120 feet deep. The edifice itself, which is 30 feet front by 45 feet deep, cost $3,500 and was dedicated to the service of Almighty God, on Monday, 31st of May, 1869. At the same time and by the same Council called by letters missive, an ecclesiastical organization was effected under the title of the First Congregational Church of New Lots; it having been determined at a previous meeting, after due notice, to adopt the Congregational name and principles.

At a meeting of the Church and Society regularly convened, on Monday evening, December 20th, 1869, the Rev. I. S. Davison, who had for more than a twelvemonth filled the pulpit once each Lord's day without pecuniary remuneration, was invited to the pastorate; and, the American Home Missionary Society having commissioned him with the promise of aid in his support, the arrangement was accordingly effected for one year beginning with January 1st, 1870; when two preaching services instead of one every Sabbath, were inaugurated, together with a Pastor's Bible Class—the pastor usually being present also and aiding at the Wednesday evening meeting, and the sisters of the Church maintaining their weekly prayer meeting regularly as heretofore. Among the most interesting services have always been the Monthly Concert of Prayer for Missions and the Monthly Sermon to the Young. To induce as many as possible to share in all the blessings contemplated, one thousand cards were neatly printed for circulation, announcing the names of the Church and its officers, with the time, place and design of its periodical appointments, and extending a cordial “Welcome to all” who might be inclined to occupy “free seats” in the Sanctuary of Him that hath willed the public acknowledgment of himself by “rich and poor” meeting, not separately, but “together,” for His worship.

At the close of the Rev. I. S. Davison's charge, the Rev. I. C. Lockwood was called to the pastorate. In September 1871, the Rev. C. H. H. Pannell, the present pastor, was invited to take charge. Preaching every Sabbath at 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ A. M. and 7 P. M. Sabbath School every Sabbath at 9 A. M. and 2 P. M.

SOCIETIES.

CONCORDIA SINGING SOCIETY.

This is a German Society and is the oldest in the town. It was first organized in 1855, under the name of the Harmonia Singing Society, but was re-organized on the 28th of August, 1859, as the Concordias'. The first meeting was held at the house of Mr. Charles Heitkamp when Mr. Frances Miller was chosen president and Prof. Hermann Kiesling as leader. Composed of some of the most prominent and wealthy German citizens, the Concordia ranks first among the societies of the town, Masquerades, Concerts and Pic-nics are annually given by the Society, which are always of the highest order and well attended, adding largely to the receipts of the treasurer. The funds, however, are not entirely used for the benefit of the members. Large sums are annually donated to charitable institutions. In 1871 the Society sent over $200, for the relief of the sufferers from the Chicago fire.

Prof. Kiesling continued as leader of the Society until his death in 1866, when the services of Prof. August Bishoff were secured, to whose able leadership, the success of the society is largely due. Under a rule of the Society, those who have been active members for fifteen years receive the title of "Honorary members." Four only have reached that distinction, viz., John Gutman Henry Miller, Nicholas Hoffman and Paul Haller. On the 18th of May last the Society removed from its old quarters, Henry Miller's Hotel, Sheffield avenue, where it had held its meetings since its organization, to its new rooms, in the hotel of Mr. John Gastieger, Sheffield avenue, corner of the Jamaica Plank road.

The Society, at present numbers about 70 members. The following are the officers: President, William Ferchland; Vice President, Conrad Deike; Secretary, William Eiserman, Treasurer, Louis Konrad. Meetings are held for practice on Mondays and Fridays at 8 o'clock P. M.

It is a fundamental rule of the Society to assist the poor without distinction of race, color or nationality. A select Library, consisting of five hundred volumes, circulates among the people. Meetings are held in the school room on Atlantic avenue, every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The following are the officers: President, James McGuigan; Vice President, Thomas F. Ryan; Corresponding Secretary, Michael McGrath; Financial Secretary, Thomas Brady; Treasurer, Peter Sullivan.

EAST NEW YORK TURNER SOCIETY.

About the first of November 1859, some half a dozen of the prominent German citizens of the town, sat in a saloon on Broadway enjoying a glass of the favorite teutonic beverage, when the subject of forming a Turner Society in the town, was introduced and freely discussed, which resulted in a call for a meeting, for the purpose of taking preliminary steps toward organizing a Society to be known as the East New York Turner Society. On the 20th of November, 1859, a permanent organization was effected and the Society duly chartered. Meetings were held at the residence of the members, until April 1864, when it was resolved to erect a Hall, for the use of the Society. Accordingly, a committee was appointed with power to select a site and to proceed at once with the work. A site was selected on Butler Avenue, near Atlantic Avenue, and a substantial three story frame building $37\frac{1}{2}$ feet front by 60 feet deep, was soon completed, at a cost of a little over \$4,000. On the 4th of July, 1864, a formal opening of the Hall took place, under the auspices of the New Brooklyn Turner Society. There was a large attendance of the citizens of the town, and the exercises were of a very interesting character. The Society is at present in a flourishing condition, numbering about thirty members, among which are some of the most prominent and wealthy German citizens of the town. CEMETERIES.

In compliance with the wants of modern society, and the progress of public taste in our great Commonwealth, the Legislature of 1847, at the instance of many intelligent and public spirited men, enacted a general law, conferring upon voluntary Associations the right of establishing Rural Cemeteries throughout the State.

This law, which, in its workings, has been found to answer most fully all the purposes for which it was intended, was the fruit of great legislative wisdom and enlightened liberality. By its provisions, large, generous and valuable immunities are guaranteed to Cemetery Associations forever. The resting places of the dead are exempted from execution for debt and from taxation, and the shield of the State throws its broad protection over the graves of its citizens.

CYPRESS HILLS CEMETERY.

This Cemetery lies on that elevated ridge of land on the north side of the Brooklyn and Jamaica turnpike, usually known as the "back bone of Long Island." Geographically isolated from innovation or the inroads of improvements for general or public purposes and being bounded on the north by the Myrtle avenue Plank road, on the east by a high range of hills, on the south by the Brooklyn and Jamaica Turnpike; and on the west by the Williamsburgh and Cypress Hills Macadamized road, it is perpetually secluded and protected from all danger of invasion or desecration, for all time.

Its distance is about five miles from Peck Slip, Division avenue, Grand and Houston street ferries, and one mile from the eastern boundary line of the City of Brooklyn. Between three and four hundred acres are now laid out, and when it becomes necessary, the grounds may be extended; since by special charter of the Legislature this Cemetery can hold five hundred acres of ground, which will make it the largest Cemetery in the world.

The dedication of the ground took place on the 21st of November 1848, in the presence of a great assembly. The exercises were performed on the ground, under the direction of the Reverend George Peck, D. D., of New York, assisted by several learned and eminent Clergymen of various denominations, who, with one common sentiment of veneration and hope, joined harmoniously in the solemn ceremony.

Sacred Anthems were sung by the American Musical Institute. The Introductory Address was delivered by the Reverend Dr. Dowling.

William Ross Wallace in his History of Cemeteries, says :

The model Cemetery of this country, and indeed of the world, is that of Cypress Hills, on Long Island, near New York City. It combines so many advantages in its dimensions, its distance from the great city, its admirable location, the diversified and picturesque nature of its grounds, the splendid panorama of nature discernible from its breezy heights, its native graces and its artistic accessories, that without a full and minute description of Cypress Hills, a work of this kind would be altogether incomplete. It furnishes the proper climax to the whole subject of which we treat—for it unites, in one, all that the civilization, the taste, the art, the piety of man have ever devised to adorn and sanctify the burial places of the dead. It brings down the histories of Cemeteries to our own day, and indicates, more fully perhaps than any other object that we could select, the refinement and the enlightened progress of our age.

THE EVERGREENS CEMETERY.

Beautiful for situation, convenience and retirement, overlooking the Ocean and the Cities of New York and Brooklyn, interspersed with hills, dales, valleys and lakes, copious with evergreens and natural forests, located directly upon the border of East New York, thus rendering it an important and desirable place for the study of our citizens.

A new departure was made some two years ago in its management, having been sold, purchased and re-organized by a few gentlemen residing in Brooklyn, largely engaged in mercantile business, who are determined to place "The Evergreens," in a first-class condition. They placed it in the hands of Wm. A. Cummings, as President, who has since managed it, spending his entire time in devising and maturing plans for its improvement and ornamentation, which are of great importance to all interested.

Plans have been drawn for the new entrance now being constructed, which commences on Bushwick avenue opposite Conway street, being an avenue 25 feet wide, sidewalks of ten feet in width, a Lodge for the convenience of Visitors, with a tower 50 feet high, iron gateways, and an iron fence over 400 feet in length on Bushwick avenue, and a court yard inside the fence, of 20 feet in width, which will be ornamented with flowers and shrubbery. All these plans were originated by Mr. Cummings, who secured the valuable services of John T. Culyer, Esq., Chief Engineer of Prospect Park, Brooklyn, as consulting Engineer, which met his hearty approval and who drew the plans for the work.

The adjoining grounds will be handsomely graded and laid out upon the lawnscape plan, so successful at "Woodlawn," without fences, but allowing headstones and monuments to be erected as purchasers may desire.

The new Receiving Tomb, which has been erected is an ornament, and will be of great convenience to the public for a temporary place of interment.

The management is a liberal one; every accommodation will be granted to those who wish to locate there, also to any who may desire to improve their plots. Law and order being strictly maintained upon its grounds, the public are cordially invited to visit and examine for themselves. Every facility will be given to all who may apply at the office, and information imparted.

There are two mails a day, one arriving at 9 A. M. and one at 4 P. M.; and departing at 6.40 A. M. and at 1.40 P.M. Miles A. Brown, Postmaster.

NEWSPAPERS.

The newspaper enterprise in the town, dates back as far as the year 1838, when the late John R. Pitkin, Esq., the pioneer of East New York, commenced the publication of a monthly paper called The Mechanic. The office of publication was in what was then known as the "old stone building," at the corner of Atlantic and Pennsylvania avenues. The Mechanic was devoted to the interest of real estate in the village of East New York, in the sale of which Mr. Pitkin was, at that time, largely interested. Its publication, however, was discontinued after the first year.

In 1853, Mr. C. Warren Hamilton, issued the first number of the Kings County Advertiser and Village Guardian. The office of publication was also in "the old stone building." The Advertiser reached its third volume, when it passed into other hands and under the name of the Kings County Journal, was continued until about the year 1865, when it was found that publishing a newspaper at East New York was not a financial success, and the publishers of the Journal, taking advantage of this fact, retired from the newspaper business, leaving the people of East New York to gather their news from some other source.

In 1866, Mr. Matthew Cooper, a practical printer from the Empire city, took up his residence in East New York, and soon after commenced the publication of the East New York Sentinel. Although Mr. Cooper was often tempted to follow in the footsteps of his illustrious predecessors, and the "forms" that knew him, know him no more forever, the Sentinel "still lives," and, judging from its present appearance, is likely to live for some time to come.

In 1870, a stock company was organized under the name of the "New Lots Journal Association," and about the first of September of the same year, issued the first number of the New Lots Journal, Mr. Geo. A. F. North occupying the editorial chair; but finding the chair anything but comfortable, he soon relinquished the quill and scissors, and the editorial chair of the Journal became vacant. It was not long however without an occupant, for Mr. A. B. Proctor, who could handle the "stick" as well as the quill and scissors, filled the place made vacant by Mr. North. Mr. Proctor finding that between "stick" and quill there was most too much for him to do, associated with him Mr. C. Warren Hamilton, and the stock of the Journal Association was bought up, and, changing the name of the paper to the Kings County Weekly Leader, Mr. Hamilton handled the quill, while Mr. Proctor was seldom seen without his "stick."

On the 3d day of January, 1874, the stock and fixtures were sold to Messrs. A. H. W. Van-Siclen and Richard Pickering, who commenced the publication of The Long Island Record, an independent, family and business journal, which, under its present management, is rapidly growing in public favor, as its increasing circulation gives ample proof. The Record is published every Saturday morning. Between it and the Sentinel there is no lack of newspaper enterprise in the town.

UNION GAS LIGHT COMPANY.

The site upon which the works of this company are built is about one acre in extent, lying almost in the centre of the town. The buildings front on Adams street, and are solid structures of brick. Around the works, and enclosing them, is a strong fence, of height sufficient to secure immunity from the incursions of curiosity-seekers, or persons afflicted with a mania for mischief. On entering the large yard, through the gate on Adams Street, the first objects of interest arresting attention, are

THE GASOMETERS.

The general appearance of these vast cylindrical bodies, wherein the gas, as it is manufactured, becomes stored, is so well known to everyone as to require no description. They are, to outward appearance, afloat in the water which surrounds their bulky sides, but the truth is that the bottoms being unenclosed, they are buoyed up by the ponderous volume of gas, a uniform supply of which is continually maintaining its discharge into them from the works. The water which we see in the interstice between the gasometers and the masonry of their vaults, is supplied by pumping. Surrounding the gasometers, it effectually prevents all possibility of the gas escaping. So long as it remains the guardian of the great body of gas it surrounds, there can exist no danger. It is only when the gasometer might be raised above the water—an event which never happens—that the gas, coming in contact with flame, an explosion could ensue. The large gasometer at the Union works contains 30,000 cubic feet of combustible gas. The quality of gas manufactured at the Union works is of extraordinary brilliance and purity. By an ingeniously constructed machine, known as the “photometer,” and commonly used in all gas works, the power of a jet of gas can be tested. The photometer, when applied to the gas of the Union works, indicates the power of one burner as equivalent to eighteen candles!

The capacity of the works will be ample to meet the requirements of East New York and the territory surrounding it, for many years to come. The facilities are now adequate to a supply of 60,000 feet every twenty-four hours. At present only 12,000 feet of gas are nightly being supplied throughout the town; but in the winter season the demand averages about 25,000 feet.

The utmost credit is due to the Union Company for the liberal scale on which they have provided for the supply of an article so indispensable to the business interests and the home comforts of this community, as is the article of gas. That the company has acted towards the people in an unselfish, and it were not too much to say, a generous manner—is apparent from the fact that, save one dividend, they have appropriated all the earnings of the company to the improvement of the works.

The history of the Union Gas Works extends back to 1861, in which year they were built, at an original cost of $50,000. But in the year 1872, it was found that the facilities were inadequate to an efficient supply and the large gasometer, built by Thomas F. Rowland of Greenpoint, was purchased, new retorts erected and buildings added and stocked with new machinery, at a cost of about $70,000.

The long contemplated project of lighting the streets of East New York, is, happily, approaching accomplishment. Several of our merchants, acting in the most public spirited manner, have already provided lamps upon Atlantic avenue, at their own expense; and we are informed that more than twenty signatures of the thirty-five property owners on that avenue, have been obtained, petitioning the Supervisor and Commissioners of Highways to direct a line of street lamps to be laid on Atlantic avenue, from the Canarsie track to the Nassau Water Works.

The Company is under the management of the following

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.—Edwin Ludlam, President; A. H. W. VanSiclen, Sec'y and Treas.; Charles Lowrey, Frederick Cromwell, Alexander McCue, Jeremiah W. Curtis and Henry J. Cullen.

RIDGEWOOD WATER WORKS.

Situated in the easterly section of the town, toward the line dividing Kings and Queens Counties, are the Ridgewood Water Works—the main sources of water supply to the round half million who have their homes in the great city of Brooklyn. Of the vast number who use and waste the water furnished in such blissful abundance to their homes, there are few who have any conception of the ponderous engines unceasingly at work to minister to their necessities.

The Ridgewood works, being the main source from whence the water becomes immediately distributed into the houses of Brooklyn, will bear some description such as we now venture to give. Built on a level plain, southward overlooking Jamaica Bay, and on the north bounded by the ascending ridges of the Cypress Hills and Jewish Cemeteries—crowned, as these are, by innumerable forest trees—the location of the Water Works is peaceful and picturesque. The building, itself, is a compact, massive structure of brick masonry, standing upon about two acres of land enclosed by an iron fence. Entering the works, one becomes impressed with the majesty of mechanism there displayed, and as he regards the ponderous engines, he experiences an acute realization of the power that dwells in the human mind—a power that can create and exert those monster agencies—so transcendently superior to man's physical capacity. The next emotion, succeeding the wonder produced by the movement of enormous cranks and the revolutions of gigantic wheels, weighing 45,000 pounds, proceeds from the sense of admiration one derives at the sight of machinery, so brightly is it polished—everything surrounding it partaking evidences of that pains-taking and care which are exerted to preserve and keep beautiful what combines so much of ornament and utility.

THE ENGINES.

Of these there are three, each capable of pumping over 15,000,000 gallons of water per day; but, as a rule, only two of these engines are kept in use at a time, the quantity thus pumped being found adequate to all ordinary requirements. The water with which the city is supplied, and which, by means of these engines, is forced into the great storage reservoirs at Ridgewood, flows from various sources. It is at present collected from six ponds, in as many valleys of the Island, with an aggregate of water-shed above their dams of $60\frac{1}{4}$ square miles. Owing to evaporation, waste, etc., these ponds have never exceeded a maximum yield of twenty-five to thirty millions of gallons, per day, in wet weather. In seasons of drought their supply is, of course, materially lessened.

THE BOILER ROOMS.

The enormous boilers, belonging to these works, are located in wings adjoining either side of the engine house. Of these there are eleven in all—five of seven feet diameter and twenty-six feet long, and six of eight feet diameter and thirty feet long. They exert a pressure of seventy pounds to the square inch. Only eight of these boilers are in general use. Their furnaces require a supply of forty tons of coal, per diem, and with that fuel the engines are now pumping from thirty-one to thirty-two million gallons of water, daily.

The Repair Shops recently provided at the works are found to be of great convenience. Hitherto it has been necessary to send to Brooklyn for all needed articles of repair. Now they are manufactured at the works, as required.

The works are open to the inspection of all and they will well repay a visit. As now managed, they are one of the most creditable institutions of which Brooklyn can boast—an institution of which any city might well be proud.

Mr. Frederick D. Hart is the managing engineer of the works. He has occupied this responsible position for a number of years, during which, engineering efficiency, prudent supervision and satisfactory management have been displayed by him in conducting the important trust confided to him by the Board of City Works.

RAILROADS.

There are six railroads terminating at East New York; two steam and four horse roads. The Brooklyn and Jamaica Steam road, running to Jamaica, connecting with the Long Island road from Hunter's Point to the east and the north side of the Island. The Canarsie and Rockaway steam road, under the able management of P. H. Reid, Esq., has won for itself the title of the "Pleasure Road" of the Island. Trains leave the Howard House every hour during the day, and in the summer season connect with the Steamboat "Oceanus" for Rockaway Beach, on "Old Long Island's sea-girt shore." For pleasure, this trip is not surpassed, as thousands who pass over the road every season, bear ample testimony.

The Broadway road, city line, runs from the Howard House through Alabama avenue to Broadway, down Broadway to South 7th street, Brooklyn, E. D., and thence down South 7th street to the ferries. Return same route. Time 45 minutes.

Fulton avenue line from the Howard House, through Alabama avenue to Fulton avenue, thence through Fulton avenue to the Fulton Ferry. Return the same route. Time 60 minutes.

The Atlantic avenue line runs from VanSiclen avenue, through Atlantic avenue to the South Ferry, Brooklyn, thence through Furman street to Fulton Ferry. Return the same route. Time 65 minutes.

East New York and Jamaica Horse road, from Howard House, through Alabama avenue to the Jamaica Plank road, thence along the Plank road to Cypress Hills, and thence to Jamaica. Return the same route. Time 60 minutes.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Fire Department of the town was organized by an act of the Legislature passed April, 1866. Although the Department has many obstacles to contend against, the most prominent of which is the want of a water supply for the town, it has done good service and is entitled to the thanks of the citizens of the town for the many thousand dollars worth of property saved by the noble work of the "brave boys in red." The department, at present consists of five companies, as follows :

Union Hook & Ladder, No. 1.,	Jam. Pk. rd.
Neptune Engine, No. 2,	Wyckoff ave. n. Atlan.
Franklin Engine. No. 1,	Rockaway ave.
Liberty Hose, No. 1,	Butler ave. n. Atlantic.
Independent Hose, No. 2,	Cypress Hills.

The department numbers about 280 members. The following are the names of the officers :

Chief Engineer, Peter Kennedy ; Assistant Engineer, Peter N. Furman ; Treasurer, William B. Howard ; President of the Board, William J. Ray ; Vice President, Michael Golden ; Secretary, Samuel Victor.

The town is divided into six fire districts, as follows :

I. DISTRICT.—Bounded on the North, South and West by the Town Line, and East by Vansinderen Avenue.

II. DIST.—Bounded on the North by the Town Line, West by Vansinderen avenue, South by Liberty avenue, and East by Butler avenue.

III. DIST.—Bounded on the North by Liberty ave., West by Vansinderen ave., South by the Town Line, and East by Butler avenue.

IV. DIST.—Bounded on the North by Town Line, East by Eldert avenue, South by Liberty avenue, and West by Butler avenue.

V. DIST.—Bounded on the North by Liberty avenue, East by Eldert avenue, South by the Town Line, and West by Butler avenue.

VI. DIST.—Bounded on the North, East and South by the Town Line, and on the West by Eldert avenue.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

When the Metropolitan Police district was abolished, the towns of Kings County were left without police protection. The Brooklyn Police Bill was accordingly amended, giving authority to the Town Boards of the several towns to apply to the Police Commissioners of the City of Brooklyn, under a requisition, for the appointment of as many men as were deemed necessary. Under this authority, the Board of this town, in 1871, applied for the appointment of three men, who were duly appointed. In 1873 three more men were asked for and appointed. A building was rented on Liberty avenue for the use of the Police as a Station-house and Lock-up. The building was found to be entirely inadequate to meet the wants of the department, and as a law had been passed giving authority to the Town Board to bond the town in the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of erecting a Town House in some central location, it was deemed best to proceed at once under the provisions of the act, to erect a building for the use of the police.

Accordingly, in June, 1873, a plot of ground 50 by 100 feet was purchased of Horace A. Miller, on Butler avenue between Atlantic and Fulton avenues, for the sum of $1,400, and a substantial two-story and basement brick structure erected thereon. On the 11th day of December, 1873, the building was formally handed over to the town. A local paper speaking of the completion of the building, says: "The building committee, Judges Hamilton, Dowling and Wolfert deserve the thanks of the citizens for the manner in which they have watched over the interests of the tax-payers. The Town House is creditable to the Town Board, the architect, William T. Smith, and to the contractors, Messrs. Sullivan and Seidler, and we fully agree with the Supervisor in saying, that the town has got a dollar's worth for every dollar expended."

The first floor is fitted up for the accommodation of the police, while the basement is used for a lock-up. The second floor is appropriately furnished and is used for the purpose of holding public meetings, lectures &c.

The following are the names of the present police force: Thomas J. Herbert, William Early, Stephen Newman, Charles Closs, Thomas Clifford, Peter B. Hayes. Samuel W. Palmer is keeper of the lock-up.

This Dispensary is located on Division avenue, near Miller avenue. It was founded December, 7th, 1873, by Andrew A. Wemmell, M. D. Its objects are to afford medical relief to sufferers in indigent circumstances, residing in the town.
